The Division of Assets & Debts

One of the most significant issues that accompany divorce is the division of assets and debts. Some property might be considered joint property. On the other hand, there might be a property that each individual brought with them into the marriage. It is important to make sure that all assets and debts are divided fairly. This is another area where a trained Utah divorce lawyer can be helpful.

An Uncontested Divorce

Even if you are going through an uncontested divorce, it is still important for you to have someone who can guide you through all the paperwork that will have to take place. There are plenty of situations where a couple decides to split up amicably. At the same time, you also need to make sure that you go through all of the proper channels involving the legal system. That is where a divorce lawyer can help you.

The Establishment of Alimony

There may be situations where alimony may be required. If spouses cannot agree on an alimony amount, then a lawyer can help you. Whether you are paying alimony or receiving alimony, we can help you figure out the proper amount. Sometimes, we may have to argue your case in front of the judge. There could be some situations where alimony is only meant to be temporary. We can help you with this as well.

Issues Related to Child Custody and Visitation

There are a lot of issues related to child custody and visitation. We can help you establish a fair child visitation schedule that acts in the best interest of your children. For example, one spouse might be ordered to pay child support to the other spouse. Whether you are paying or receiving child support, we can make sure that you receive a fair amount that can help you take care of your child. Furthermore, if there are any issues related to back child support, we can help you navigate this as well.

There may be situations where adoption is necessary following a divorce. Adoption, paternity, and divorce tend to go hand-in-hand. Therefore, if you have questions about an adoption involving one or more of your children, we can act as your guide through this process as well.
