

West Valley City Divorce Lawyer

utahdivorce.biz/west-valley-city-divorce-lawyer

A divorce requires making many difficult decisions. From the division of finances and property to child support and visitation rights, choosing an experienced West Valley City lawyer can make all the difference. While every case is different, our divorce lawyers are here to represent your interests and challenge any legal issues you may be facing. This includes negotiating with the former spouse's legal team and acting as your proxy and emotional shield during the entire process.

Many times attorneys are tasked with locating hard-to-find assets that are hidden from the client. Our West Valley City lawyers and paralegal teams are skilled at using tools of discovery to make sure all income and assets are accurately reported. We work to settle your divorce to make sure you receive fair compensation, the best custody or visitation arrangement, and the maximum alimony or child support.

Helping You Prepare For The Future

Your West Valley City Lawyer realizes what happens during your divorce proceedings will impact the rest of your life. We don't take this responsibility lightly. You will have many pressing decisions to make and you may experience a roller coaster of emotions concerning things you feel were done by your spouse during your marriage. For these reasons, your most important decision will be hiring the right divorce lawyers to act in your family's best interest.

Uncontested Divorce or Divorce Mediation – We act as your legal mediator for uncontested divorce proceedings to make sure property and finances are fairly divided and act as your emotional coach until all agreements are met. If your divorce case demands negotiation with the spouse and their lawyer, we stand firmly behind our clients and bargain on your behalf until you are satisfied.

Child Support – If your divorce includes child support and custody issues, we represent your financial interests in family court to make sure child support is awarded in a fair and rational manner. Part of the financial child support responsibilities will be closely tied to child custody decisions. We work to obtain the best balance of family life with your children and fair payment to your former spouse after your divorce is settled.

Child Custody and Visitation Rights – Your West Valley City Attorney will defend your relationship with your children when you are declared the non-custodial parent. We create a strategy that balances child custody, visitation, and child support with lawyers who know how to clarify the issues and present your rights and desires to the courts.

Alimony – When negotiating spousal support, we work to settle your case with an alimony amount that you are comfortable with. Whether you're paying or receiving the payment, we can help you ask for the right amount of alimony – or argue your case to question if alimony is appropriate or not. Sometimes temporary alimony agreements are made to benefit both parties.

Division of Assets & Debts – The West Valley City lawyer who represents you will make sure community and non-community property is fairly divided. We can help you decide who should stay in the house and provide a legal counsel and oversight overall asset and debt division. There are many financial decisions that must be made during a divorce, and we work to navigate your course to a successful new beginning.

Paternity Law – Salt Lake City, Utah has very specific laws concerning divorce and the legal recognition of a child's biological father. We have dealt with both voluntary parental acknowledgment and State-established legal processes to make sure all legal judgments are handed down fairly.

If you are seeking a West Valley City Divorce Lawyer in Salt Lake City, Utah, call The Law Offices of David Pedrazas to make an appointment today.

When a divorce goes badly, you have much to lose. When handled professionally and efficiently, you gain peace of mind as you prepare for a brighter future.